

THURSDAY, AUGUST 4, 1785.

CADIZ, APRIL.
FRIGATE and two other vessels, are arrived from the Havana, having on board 80,702 crowns, a vast number of hides, a quantity of sugar, tobacco, drying-woods, &c.

ANTWERP, April 30. It is thought here to be certain that there will be a campaign this year in the Netherlands; at least preparations are making here with such diligence that they work even on Sundays after service; all the regiments are ready to take the field at a moment's notice.

MADRID, April 26. The king considering that the seminary of the nobles of this court is under his protection and immediate disposal, as being a foundation established by his august father, for the instruction of the principal nobility of his dominions, both in Europe and the Indies, has resolved, that the pupils on that foundation, who shall choose the profession of arms, shall be admitted as cadets into what corps they choose; that they shall be looked upon as present, on the bare certificate of the director of that royal house. While they remain in the seminary they shall be considered as if they had been in actual service; and they will be promoted according to the character given them by the said director. His majesty likewise orders that they attend the seminary constantly, in order to perfect themselves in tactics, giving them a dispensation from joining their regiments till their studies be finished.

May 19. The utmost endeavours are exerted to insure success to the projected expedition against Algiers. Government have sent orders to the ports for all the ships to be ready to sail by the 26th of May, and numbers of merchant vessels are taken up as transports; several companies of grenadiers will sail under the escort of a small squadron to Minorca, where there are already 12,000 troops. In the course of the next month, the rest of the troops destined to besiege Algiers by land will set out; that army will be composed of 30,000 men. The court, in order to facilitate the taking of that place, propose to make themselves masters of some posts near the fortress, and there to form entrenchments for the army to put them under cover, in case any accident should happen to the fleet which is to bombard the place.

PETERSBURG, April 25. The emperor has declared Ostrogoa free port, and it is in consequence to enjoy the same privileges and advantages as are at present granted to the other free ports on the confines of Austria and Hungary.

VIENNA, April 29. Since the arrival of an extraordinary courier from Paris, the conditions upon which the emperor is willing to continue at peace with the Dutch are publicly said to be the following, viz. First, an indemnification for the damages done by inundating part of the country. Secondly, a sum of 12,000,000 of florins in lieu of Austria. Thirdly, the cession of the islands beyond the Mass to the house of Austria. Fourthly, the unlimited right of navigating the Scheldt as far as Saltingen. Fifthly, from thence to the sea, for Austrian vessels only, and these paying a small duty. Upon these conditions it is expected that a definitive treaty will soon be concluded.

The nobility of Transylvania having formed a corps of militia for their defence against the late troubles which have taken place in that province, their number amounted to 3000 horse, which was to have been increased; but the court has thought proper to put a stop to these volunteer armaments, and to give the nobility to understand that every thing being now quiet, they should quit their uniforms and return home.

PETERSBURG, April 2. Orders have been sent for the men of war and frigates fitting out at Cronstadt to be ready to sail next month. The above fleet which will consist of 15 ships of the line and 6 frigates, will be destined for a long cruise, but their destination is not known. Another squadron of 8 ships of the line and 5 frigates will cruise in the Baltic during the summer. The journey of the emperors to Katchin, will not take place.

As soon as our sovereign was informed that the Czar had broke off all commerce with this empire, orders and full powers were sent to the governor of Siberia to endeavour to accommodate the differences in amicable manners; to inquire into the cause of them, and remedy it.

PARIS, May 6. We are happy to be able to acquaint the public, that the concord and good harmony between the prince stadtholder and our new general, increases daily. The comte de Maillebois has explained himself on that subject in such an open and unreserved manner, as does the greatest honour to his heart. Free from all party spirit and impartial in his judgment, that general has freely and openly owned that he did not think to have found the stadtholder so profoundly skilled in the theory of the military art, particularly as he never had the opportunity of experience to instruct him; and that the plans laid down for the defence of these provinces by his serene highness alone, were astonishingly great; his honourable eulogium from an old and experienced officer, ought to open the mouth of slander, which has been so long unjustly open against our stadtholder.

May 17. Several men and women are committed to prison for hawking about the streets a pamphlet, entitled, "Dialogues of the other world." This book contains a conversation supposed to have passed between

May 20. Dr. Franklin, who is on the point of returning to his own country, is, it is said, to be president of the congress, and to digest a new code of laws for regulating the internal police of the republic, and prevent the disorders which arise in the cities for want of discipline.

May 22. Great encouragement is given at all the Spanish towns on the Mediterranean, for English and French artificers and traders. Fifty-six vessels have lately landed a great number of foreigners at Marfeilles.

May 31. Political news is scarce; the exchange of Bavaria is what chiefly amuses our politicians at present, and it is said the emperor has offered the duke de Deux Ponts the title of king of Burgundy, with the Netherlands, if he will give into his measures; and it is thought many powers would not object to the exchange, particularly the United Provinces, although they have a right to oppose any such convention, as by the barrier treaty the Austrian Netherlands may not be disposed of without their consent. Yet it is thought they would have no objection to remove so powerful a potentate as the emperor from their frontiers. On the other hand France, Prussia, and the Italian princes, will no doubt oppose any exchange of territory from taking place between the emperor and the emperor, for the latter being once possessed of Bavaria, could enter the heart of those countries almost at pleasure.

HAGUE, May 25. The night before last, a courier arrived at the hotel of M. le marquis de Verac, ambassador from his Most Christian Majesty; and it is asserted, that he was charged with orders to his excellency, to urge the states general to come to some speedy, and final resolutions for terminating all differences between the emperor and the republic.

The negotiations at Paris are interrupted. The French ambassador has presented a secret memorial to the states general. War appears to be now as certain as peace was supposed to be a few days since. In a short time the veil which has concealed the real state of affairs will be drawn aside. At present all is darkness and confusion.

LONDON, May 14.

Gibraltar may now be truly said to be impregnable, for wherever the Spanish batteries pointed out a vulnerable part, general Elliot has strengthened it with new works, which makes the rock more formidable than ever.

On Wednesday morning last the master of the mint, by an order from the exchequer, delivered into the bank the sum of seventy thousand pounds, in new guineas and half guineas.

We hear that his grace the duke of Richmond, with that steady unobtrusive patriotism, which marks the whole of his character, intends applying the salary and emoluments of his office as master-general of the ordnance, towards building a new academy, in the room of that at Woolwich, which from its low and marshy situation, has been for some years back much complained of, as injurious to the health of the students.

The following assertions are made by the persons concerned in the iron trade at Birmingham.

That, there is a large exportation of nails and heavy iron wares from this neighbourhood to America.

That, the duty upon the importation of bar iron is so much less in Ireland than in Britain; that nails can be made in Ireland between seven and nine per cent. cheaper than in the neighbourhood of Birmingham, notwithstanding the variation in the price of coal.

That by means of workmen from this neighbourhood, Sir Ambrose Crawley established a very extensive manufactory of heavy iron wares near Newcastle upon Tyne, and lately Mr. Garbett also established another in Scotland. And many manufacturers of iron may with less difficulty remove some hundreds of their workmen to Ireland, and thereby rapidly acquire opulent fortunes.

That, if the propositions for commercial intercourse between Great Britain and Ireland preclude the making such alterations in the revenue laws, as will place Britain upon an equality with Ireland in point of duties upon bar iron, and if those alterations are not made in this session of parliament, Britain will probably lose, and Ireland will probably gain the important manufacture of nails, and other heavy articles for the American market.

May 16. The Hudson's Bay fleet, consisting of three ships, are now taking in their lading in the river, and will soon sail for their respective places of destination.

The Danish ship which brought the account of Sir E. Hughes's arrival at the Cape of Good-Hope, sailed from thence in haste. The admiral intended to stay there a month to recruit the crews of the two ships, Sultan of 24 guns, and Eurydice frigate of 26 guns.

According to letters from Holland, the Dutch have recalled their consul from the island of Malta, where he had resided near twenty years; nor will they send any other person in that capacity thither. The matter and knights of Malta having lately concluded a treaty of amity and alliance with the republic of Venice, is the principal reason assigned for the latter general having recalled their consul from Malta.

By a private letter from Paris we are informed that the duke de Choiseul, the late famous premier of France, died on Monday the 5th instant, in the forenoon, in the 67th year of his age.

May 19. Insurance from the West-Indies and America is now done at three guineas; and ships from London to Peterburgh, are done at one guinea per cent.

The following is an extract from a letter received by Mr. Blunt, coal-merchant of this city, from his correspondent at Sunderland, relative to the balloon in which Mr. Sadler and another gentleman ascended lately from Moufey.

On Thursday the 5th of May, about half past three o'clock, P. M. captain Sherwin, of the Peggy, took up a very large balloon, with a boat or basket made fast to it, east end of Sheppey island, bearing west south west, nearly distant four or five leagues; the black tail beacon bearing about north by west, distant one mile, or thereabouts; and the buoy or the moule bearing east by north, distant two or three miles, or thereabouts, but not any vessel in it, nor any distinction about it, except upon the ballast-bags, on which was marked "SADLER, OXFORD." There was no writing, or letters in it, nor any thing but a right hand glove, a pair of trowsers, a grappling iron and label, with a sheet or two of writing paper. When the captain first saw it, it was about two o'clock, at a great distance in the air, lowering very fast; at half past two judged it might be a balloon; at three it got upon the surface of the water, making its course to the north west, occasioned by a breeze from the south east, at the rate of seven or eight miles an hour. When he got to it, there was no water in the boat, nor any thing broke, but the bottom of the balloon was quite open. He made all the haste he could to it, for fear that any person should be in it; but found nothing but as above.

Last Wednesday a woman in Narrow Marsh, Nottingham, went in a pet to fetch her husband from the ale-house; he returned with his wife; but high words arising, he took up a stone in the street, which he grasped in his right hand, and aiming a violent stroke at the poor woman's head, she evaded the blow, but unfortunately he hit his own child which he had in her arms so violently, that the skull is fractured, and the poor babe now lies in a convulsed state, without the least hope of recovery.

June 1-8. The court of France has undergone a great change, in point of opinion, since the accession of the present king: it was formerly thought impious to inoculate for the small-pox, because it was deemed little short of tempting Heaven: but the late king having died of the small-pox, his present majesty resolved not to live in dread of this distemper, which he was liable to catch from the courtiers, who had attended upon his dying grandfather, and whole attendance upon himself could not be avoided; he caused himself therefore to be inoculated; and the event being as favourable as he could wish, the practice is now so much in vogue, that the heir to the crown (the dauphin) is revered, so adored by all France, is to be inoculated within the course of the present month. For which purpose this royal highness is shortly to be carried to St. Cloud, where the preparatory steps are to be taken by the faculty.

Yesterday morning a messenger was sent from Mr. Pitt to Mr. Adams, the American plenipotentiary, with notice to suspend for the present their intended interview.

They write from the Hague, that the states general have sent full and final instructions to baron de Lynden, their plenipotentiary in London, to treat with the British ministry concerning the restoration of the settlement of Negapatam in India, for which they now offer an equivalent, which is one of their settlements on the coast of Africa, and in that part called the Gold Coast.

Extract of a letter from Utrecht, May 3.

"The late very numerous assurances of our differences with the emperor being upon the point of being settled, have been succeeded by reports of war: These originated from accounts from the Hague, that on Wednesday last on the parade orders were given to the officers of the garrison to hold themselves in readiness to march at the first notice; this transition from pacific ideas to those of war are attributed to the contents of a memorial which the French ambassador has lately delivered to the states general, the subject of which is however kept a profound secret."

The tranquillity of the continent is not yet settled. Every mail has for some time past brought contradictory accounts. It is, however, true, that the navigation of the Scheldt has been agreed upon; that is, that the emperor shall have liberty for ships carrying his own flag (not the vessels of any other power) and of a certain number of tons, or burthen, to go up and down that river. But he has farther demanded six millions of florins (about half a million sterling) to be paid him for his expenses; and that two deputies be sent to him, at Vienna, on purpose to apologise for the insult offered to his flag. And he added, that if these terms were not complied with by the first of June, he would take the field. The first of June is now past, and nothing has been done. The accounts brought by yesterday's mail mention, that the emperor's troops are in motion, between Antwerp and Brera, and that the Dutch troops were also in motion in the same neighbourhood. But there are accounts, by the same mail, which also say, that Monsieur Vergennes has sent a strong memorial to their high mightinesses, requiring them to put an end to the negotiation. The true will be according to the views of France. The prince intends to have peace.

the will compel the Dutch to accede to the emperor's terms.

Among the various personages who drew the attention of the drawing room on Saturday last, Mr. Adams, minister plenipotentiary from the United States of America, was not the least noticed; from this gentleman the eye of majesty and the court glanced on Lord North, to whose united labours this country stands indebted for the loss of a large territory and a divided and interrupted commerce.

They write from Lisbon, that the Americans, with the concurrence of the court, are going to establish a factory at that place on the plan of the English factory; which is much on the decline; the Portuguese no longer giving that encouragement and preference to English goods which they had given some years since, particularly during the late reign.

ST. JAMES'S, June 7. This day John Adams, Esq; minister plenipotentiary from the United States of America, had a private audience of his majesty, to deliver his credentials. To which he was introduced by the marquis of Carmarthen, his majesty's principal secretary of state for foreign affairs, and conducted by Sir Clement Cottrell Dormer, knight, master of the ceremonies.

NEW-YORK, July 19.

Yesterday congress appointed Mr. Isaac Sherman, surveyor for the state of Connecticut, in pursuance of the ordinance of the 30th of May last.

The commercial bill, lately passed by the legislature of Massachusetts-Bay, if adopted by the other states, will serve to retaliate on Britain for their prohibitory acts, which deny the American vessels the advantage of the carrying trade; the West-India islands must soon feel the effects of this act, and their new settlements in N. v. Scotia, must eventually be ruined; the large duties imposed on British bottoms will soon discourage British merchants from prosecuting voyages to America in their own vessels, and the American ship building and carrying trade we may expect, will soon revive and flourish.

Memorandum of what Mr.  consumed a few days since at a public house on the dock—First course, two plates of stewed turtle, some fish, a pound of beef steaks, slice of ham; and two half grown chickens, with peas in proportion. Second course, plum pudding; cherry tarts, a pint of custard. Dessert; one plate of raspberries, pound of cherries, one pine apple, and some cheese to help digestion! Leaving the quantities out of the question, the consolidation of such a number of heterogeneous articles, must have formed in this cormorant's paunch, especially when we take into consideration their auxiliaries, such as melted butter, mustard, sugar, beer, &c.

A method of finding the body of a person lately drowned, which has been several times successfully tried in Holland. Take a new loaf of bread, into the crum of which thrust a quill, in which must be put an ounce of quicksilver, and secured with wax at both ends of the quill, so that it may not come out, and close the hole of the loaf, with a bit of the crum of the same; set it floating on the water, at the place where the body first went down, and you will find it take the course which the body took, and sink near it. This has been repeatedly tried in still water, and where there was little or no current, and never failed.

July 20. The ship Mentor has brought an organ, commissioned by the episcopal congregation of the city of Newhaven, for the use of that apostolical church; it is a fine and well approved instrument, calculated for the worship of the divinity in the real beauty of holiness.

PHILADELPHIA, July 23.

The Kentucky country lies in the west part of Virginia, on the east bank of the Ohio, between 8 and 9 hundred miles S. W. by W. from Philadelphia, and is two hundred and fifty miles in length, and two hundred in breadth. It is divided into three counties, viz. Fayette, Jefferson, and Lincoln. No country is better watered, being intersected by numerous rivers, navigable for boats, and discharging themselves into the Ohio. The face of the country is generally level, but interspersed with gentle ridges, which increase its beauty, variety and healthfulness. Its soil is undoubtedly better than that of any country yet known in the United States; in the first rate lands, the rich dark mould is between two and three feet deep, producing corn, potatoes, turneps, &c. in the most liberal abundance, but when new, is too fertile for wheat. Their sugar is obtained from the maple tree, which grows in every part of the country; they have salt springs in abundance, from which, with little trouble or expence, they procure plenty of that valuable article, and there is in some parts of the country plenty of iron ore. Their rivers are well supplied with fish and the forests with beals, among which is the buffalo, in shape like an ox, and weighs from five hundred to a thousand pounds; these animals frequent the salt springs, to which they make paths from all quarters appearing like the roads to a great city. The climate is mild, and the inhabitants are not obliged to provide food for their cattle in the winter; hence it is easy to see that their flocks and herds must multiply rapidly.

Lands for Public Sale.

To be sold by public vendue, at the vendue store in Baltimore-town, and the sale to commence, on the 5th day of September next, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, and continue until all are sold.

ABOUT 4650 acres of very valuable land, the property of the Baltimore company, viz. Orange, containing about 2800 acres, adjoining said town, the greater part of it very well wooded, the soil tolerably good, and lays well for farming — Philipburgh, containing about 900 acres, lays nearly adjoining said town, and on the banks of Patuxent river and Harris's creek, where the navigation is very good, and there may be several good and commodious ship-yards easily made — this tract stands with different kinds of timber and fire-wood, and contains several swamps and valleys, which may be easily made into valuable meadow, and a considerable quantity of the upland well adapted to farming.

Gorsuch, containing about 500 acres, this tract adjoining Philipburgh, and extends down to the point opposite the fort, which forms the mouth of our harbour, and lays two miles on navigable water; there has been formerly a few acres of this land cleared; but the remainder of it abounds with large heavy timber, chiefly white oak of the first quality for ship-building, and with fire-wood; on this tract there is a very large proportion of valuable meadow and upland of the first quality for farming — In short the many advantages it has, over most other lands, renders it the admiration of all who examine it.

Three small tracts, lying about the Old Mount Royal forge, on both sides of Jones's falls, about one and a half miles from said town, containing about 300 acres; on this land there are three excellent mill-seats, on one of which stands the old forge, with other considerable improvements. — About one half of these tracts is very well wooded; but what adds exceedingly to its value, there are a considerable number of quarries of excellent stone for building.

Bar Hills, containing about 200 acres, laying about six miles from said town, in the neighbourhood of Col. Darby Lux, and will be particularly described at the time of sale.

The whole of these lands will be laid off in lots of various sizes, according to their situations, and as it may be thought will best suit the purchasers. As there are many beautiful situations for gentlemen's country seats, a number of lots will be laid off for that purpose, and the remainder in mill-seats, stone quarries, gardens and farms.

The terms of sale of these lands are the one tenth of the purchase money, of the three tracts, lying about the Mount Royal forge, to be paid down the next day after the sale; and bonds with approved security, payable in five years from that date on interest, to be paid annually, for the residue; — and for the remaining tracts, one twentieth part of the purchase money to be paid down the next day after the sale, and bond with interest in the same manner as aforesaid, for the residue.

Plans of the whole will be made out in a short time for the examination of the public — any person desirous of viewing Philipburgh, or Gorsuch, before the day of sale, are requested to apply to Mr. Miles Love, living on the latter; those who may be desirous to view the other lands, are requested to apply to Captain Zachariah Mackubin, Mayor on Howland's Hill, Baltimore. Attendance shall be given at the time and place of sale, by Intendant's-office, July 19, 1785.

THE intendant of the revenue informs all persons who have bonds in the treasury, that monies and securities have been lodged in it, which, together with one sixth of the unbonded debt as will be sufficient for the redemption of the emissions of June 1780, and that in consequence thereof a draught of bonds has become unnecessary; but he takes the liberty of informing those persons who have hitherto neglected to pay the sixth part of their debt in specie, or of the aforesaid emissions, that the intendant will, without discrimination, bring suits to October court against all defaulters in this respect, and compel payments according to contracts; he also informs all persons who are indebted for interest that do not pay it by the first of September next, agreeably to the act for consolidating the funds, that he will put the bonds of every such person, without distinction, in suit. All collectors of the taxes are likewise informed, that unless they pay into the respective treasuries the monies they are in arrear, that indulgence can no longer be given.

The fourth bounds of the land are within twelve miles of Fredericksburg, and the north bounds about five miles from Dumfries, both considerable and growing towns. The east bounds are about one mile from Aquia warehouse, and crosses Aquia run at the fork where the north and south branches divide, each extending westward through the whole land, and will furnish several valuable mill seats. At the fork of the two branches on the eastern bounds, and where both may be included, there is a remarkable convenient seat, with abundance of water, for a large merchant mill and saw mill, with plenty of stone for building, and heights to erect mills of any construction. Adjoining to this seat are upwards of one thousand acres of unenclosed land, abounding with timber proper for a saw mill, such as large white oak and pine, of the latter many large enough for ships lower masts. The annual rents now on the lands are upwards of twenty-two thousand pounds of tobacco, and there are upwards of four thousand acres still unsettled. It is a remarkable healthy place, and from its number of branches and small natural meadows, affords good grazing for stock. The whole is laid off in thirty-two lots from one hundred and fifty to three hundred and fifty acres, for the convenience of purchasers; and a draught may be seen; and the land thrown on application to colonel Bailey Washington, whose residence is adjoining to it. The conditions and terms of sale are as follow: The lots to be sold respectively at public sale, to the highest bidder, in sterling money, or good London bills of exchange. Bonds to be given with approved security; and if the annual interest, being demanded, is not paid within three months after it becomes due, the indulgence of credit shall be forfeited, and a suit may be commenced to recover both principal and interest. Any purchaser making the second and third payments, or any part of either, on the day of sale, will be allowed a discount of ten per cent. on such sum. Any person or persons inclinable to purchase the whole before the day of sale, shall have it at a moderate price, on paying down one half the purchase money, and giving bond on interest, with approved security, conditioned as above, for payment of the other half within five years from the time of sale.

JAMES MACULLOCH.

Prince-George's county, July 12, 1785.

THAT beautiful and well improved plantation where the subscriber now lives, within one mile of Queen-Anne, eleven of Bladenburg, twenty-one of Annapolis, thirty of Baltimore-town, and within a few miles of several good grist and saw mills; it contains four hundred and fifteen acres of good fertile land; this plantation is remarkably well watered, two never failing streams running through it, and several delightful springs; there are about thirty-five acres of excellent meadow ground; the land is about half cleared and under good fences, in complete order for cropping; great part of the remainder is well timbered. The improvements are a good stone dwelling house thirty-two feet by eighteen, with a cellar under the whole, a kitchen eighteen feet square with a brick chimney, a negro quarter twenty-four feet by sixteen with a stone chimney, a paved garden, out-houses and stable, three excellent tobacco houses; all these buildings are in good repair; there are two other dwelling houses detached from the former; one is twenty-four feet square with a brick chimney, three rooms on a floor, a paved garden, and several out-houses; the other dwelling house is small. Few plantations excel this for fruit of all kinds both in quality and quantity; there are one hundred and fifty cherry trees, and in a good fruitful year ten thousand gallons of cider of the best quality can be made; the fruit trees of all kinds are young and thriving. This land will be sold together or divided into lots as may best suit the purchaser or purchasers, and if it is not sold at private sale before the twenty-fifth day of August next, it will then on the day be sold at public vendue, on the premises. Bond with approved security will be required, bearing interest from the tenth day of December next, when possession will be given, by

LAW OF MARYLAND.

THE subscriber, printer to the state, leaves to inform all persons who wish to have a copy of the laws of Maryland, from Bacon's abridgement up to the end of the last session of assembly, with the resolutions of the several conventions, the proceedings of the convention that framed the constitution, the declaration of rights and form of government, and the articles of confederation, that by order of the general assembly, he shall begin that work in a few months, under the direction of Alexander C. Hanson and Samuel Chase, Esquires; and as he intends to strike but a few copies more than what are ordered for the public use, engaged by individuals, has sent subscriptions upon to the clerks of the several counties, and a number of other gentlemen in each county, for the purpose of collecting the names of those persons desirous of securing a copy of this useful and necessary work, which will be printed with a new letter, on a good paper, of the same size, and nearly on the same plan, with Bacon's, to be delivered (at a particular place in each county) bound in leather, at three pounds each copy. Having requested a return of the subscriptions by the middle of August, he hopes those who mean to subscribe will do it before that time, or they will lose the opportunity of purchasing so valuable a book.

BALDWIN LUSBY.

N. B. She tells people where she has been since she ran away, that she is free and was set free by one of the Hopkins's, as they had let many free; perhaps she may change her name and her cloaths, and pass for a free woman; it is supposed that she went by water, or travelled away with some soldier from Annapolis.
